Black History Month, also known as African American History Month, originated from the efforts of Historian Dr. Carter G. Woodson who established Negro History Week in 1926. The goal was to promote awareness of Black history and achievements. Negro History Week expanded to a monthlong observance in 1976 when it officially became known as Black History Month.

This period serves as an opportunity to highlight the significant contributions of Black Americans throughout history. Black History Month fosters dialogue, education, cultural appreciation and plays a vital role in promoting inclusivity and raising awareness on the diverse experiences within the Black community.

El Mes de la Historia Afroamericana, también conocido como Mes de la Historia Afroamericana, se originó a partir de los esfuerzos del historiador Dr. Carter G. Woodson, quien estableció la Semana de la Historia Negra en 1926. El objetivo era promover la conciencia sobre la historia y los logros de los negros. La Semana de la Historia Negra se amplió a una celebración de un mes de duración en 1976, cuando se conoció oficialmente como Mes de la Historia Negra. Este período sirve como una oportunidad para resaltar las importantes contribuciones de los afroamericanos a lo largo de la historia. El Mes de la Historia Afroamericana fomenta el diálogo, la educación, la apreciación cultural y desempeña un papel vital en la promoción de la inclusión y la sensibilización sobre las diversas experiencias dentro de la comunidad negra.

Readings: Leviticus 13:1-2, 44-46, Psalm 32 “I turn to you, Lord, in time of trouble, and you fill me with the joy of salvation”, 1 Corinthians 10:31—11:1, Mark 1:40-45

SIN IS LEPROSY

Today's Gospel narrates the healing of a leper and expresses very efficiently the intense relationship between God and man in these words: "If you wish, you can make me clean", says the leper. "I do will it. Be made clean", answers Jesus while touching the sick man, thus removing the leprosy. This passage tells us in very few words the entire history of salvation: Christ is God's "hand" extended to humanity so that humanity can come out of the quicksand of illness, and we can get up again only by supporting ourselves on the firm rock of divine love.

Brothers and Sisters:

1. Leprosy was considered as religious impurity, so the leper was expelled from the community because of his sins. Christ revolutionizes this condemning mentality. To the leper of the Gospel, He treats him like an ill person and is truly interested in his healing. Jesus sees the person. The Christian must learn two lessons: On one hand, the humble attitude of the leper: "If you wish, you can make me clean" - and on the other hand, his apostolic fervor to spread the work of God on willing souls.

2. Leprosy as God's punishment for our sins is an idea still present in the 21st century, just as it was two thousand years ago. This is a dirty and contagious disease, that makes a man impure. Father Damian, apostle to the lepers in Molokai, sails to that island, and lives amongst the lepers and heals the souls and bodies of those segregated, excluded and unwanted by society. He repeats this and makes human the miracle told by the Gospel: "moved by compassion, He extended his hand, touched him; and instantly, the leprosy was cured".

Confronted by a leper we could have two attitudes: either separate him so he doesn't make anybody else ill, or heal him so he can live amongst us. Could it be that too many times we live still in the Old Testament? We must bring ourselves to be true Christians so that our love can repeat the miracle of healing.

3. Christ loves each man, each sinner, each leper and for that reason He doesn't ignore leprosy. He cures it. In other words, He fights against evil because He loves man and He wants to save him. The Christian must understand, share, not judge, help all his neighbors; no matter how "leper" he looks... because a Christian knows that we are all sinners. A Christian also knows that if he wants to follow the Messiah of the Kingdom of love and charity, it is necessary to fight against all evil, help overcome it, and be intolerant against any pact that doesn't separate good from evil, truth from lies, justice and oppression.

We are stalked by two temptations: unpermissiveness, that divides men among pure and impure, good and bad, and rejects bad from coexisting with the good ones. Permissiveness, which considers all equal.

Let's not label our neighbor. Let's learn to forgive and excuse. We all are sinners and we have to seek Christ with faith and trust in his mercy. Christ wants to heal us. He is also waiting for us today in the Sacrament of Reconciliation.

Palabras del Párroco

Domingo, 11 de febrero de 2024 - VI domingo de tiempo ordinario- Ciclo B
Lecturas: Leviticus 13, 1-2. 44-46, Salmo 31 "Perdona, Señor, nuestros pecados.", 1 Corintios 10, 31-11, 1, Marcos 1, 40-45

EL PECADO ES LEPROA

El Evangelio de hoy narra la curación de un leproso y expresa con gran eficacia la intensidad de la relación entre Dios y el hombre, resumida en un estupendo diálogo: "Si quieres, puedes limpiarme", dice el leproso. "Quiero; queda limpio", le responde Jesús, tocándole con la mano y liberándole de la lepra. En este pasaje vemos como concentra toda la historia de la salvación: Cristo es "la mano" de Dios extendida a la humanidad para que pueda salir de las arenas movedizas de la enfermedad, y volver a levantarse, apoyándose en la roca firme del amor divino.

Hermanas y hermanos:

1. La lepra era considerada en la antigüedad como una impureza religiosa y el leproso un excomulgado de la comunidad por causa de sus pecados. Cristo revoluciona esta mentalidad condenatoria. Al leproso del Evangelio lo trata como a un enfermo y se interesa por su curación. Él mira a la persona concreta. El cristiano debe aprender dos lecciones: Por un lado la actitud humilde y confiada del leproso: "Si quieres, puedes limpiarme"; y por otro su fervor apostólico para divulgar las maravillas que Dios hace en un alma bien dispuesta.

2. La lepra como castigo de Dios por los pecados es una idea presente todavía en pleno siglo XX igual que hace dos mil años. Enfermedad sucia y contagiosa que hace impuro al hombre. El Padre Damián, apóstol de los leprosos en Molokai navega hasta la isla maldita, convive con los leprosos y cura el alma y el cuerpo a los segregados, excluidos y apartados por la sociedad; repite a modo humano el milagro que narra el Evangelio: Cristo "movido a compasión, extendió la mano y lo tocó; al instante quedó curado".

Frente a un leproso puede haber dos actitudes: La primera, separarlo para que no contagie, la segunda, curarlo para que conviva. ¿No será que demasiadas veces seguimos instalados en el Antiguo Testamento y no conseguimos integrarnos en la era cristiana que repite el milagro de curar con el amor?

3. Cristo ama a cada hombre, a cada pecador, a cada leproso y por ello no se desentiende de su lepra: la cura. Es decir, lucha contra el mal porque ama al hombre y por ello quiere salvarle. El cristiano debe comprender, compartir, no juzgar, ayudar a todos sus hermanos, por más "pecador" -leproso- que parezca, sabiendo que todos somos pecadores; pero también debe reconocer que si quiere seguir al Mesías de un Reino de amor y bondad, es preciso luchar contra todo mal, ayudar a superarlo, ser intransigentes contra cualquier pacto que no distinga entre bien y mal, entre verdad y mentira, entre justicia y opresión.

Nos acechan dos tentaciones: La del fariseísmo, que divide a los hombres entre puros e impuros, entre buenos y malos y excluye a los malos de la convivencia con los buenos. La de la permisividad, que todo lo considera igual. Nunca pongamos una etiqueta a nuestro hermano. Sepamos perdonar y disculpar. Todos somos pecadores y tenemos que acudir a Cristo con fe y confianza para obtener misericordia. Cristo quiere curarnos. Nos está esperando también hoy en el sacramento de la penitencia.

Prayer of National Day of Prayer for the African American and African Family

We place our African American and African Families before You today. May we be proud of our history and never forget those who paid a great price for our liberation. Bless us one by one and keep our hearts and minds fixed on higher ground.

Help us to live for you and not for ourselves, and may we cherish and proclaim the gift of life. Bless our parents, guardians and grandparents, relatives and friends. Give us the amazing grace to be the salt of the earth and the light of the world.
Help us, as Your children, to live in such a way that the beauty and greatness of authentic love is reflected in all that we say and do.

Give a healing anointing to those less fortunate, especialmente la motherless, the fatherless, the broken, the sick and the lonely. Bless our departed family members and friends.
May they be led into the light of Your dwelling place where we will never grow old, where we will share the fullness of redemption and shout the victory for all eternity.

This we ask in the Precious Name of Jesus, our Savior and Blessed Assurance.
Amen.

Holy Mary, Mother of Our Families, pray for us.

Prayer composed by FR. JIM GOODE, OFM, who in 1989 founded this National Day of Prayer for the African American and African Family.
